THINK BIG

Neatly packaged in short video interviews with discussion boards, www.bigthink.com offers thoughts on art, economics, religion, politics, science and love. Want to know what Deepak Chopra has to say about ageing? Or Gloria Steinem on abortion? What about Stephen Fry on the Catholic Church? Log on for soundbites with Perez Hilton, Larry Flynt, Malcolm Gladwell, Mia Farrow and 1200 more.

Click and drink

Stocking up for the festive season or throwing a year-end party? Midway through a shindig and you notice the vino is running low? Log onto eBooze for an ice-cold delivery within the hour. I'd suggest a menu of bubbly, craft beer and a bottle of Jose Cuervo. Also available: wines, spirits, liqueurs and soft drinks. eBooze runs a full service and will bring all the ice you need – plus a stash of salted cashews to boot! One-stop party shop? Yes please. Currently running in Cape Town, eBooze is planning to go national, so watch this space.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY CHEER

Log onto

www.kriskringle.com for holiday games – including jigsaws and the snowboard challenge – songs and Kringle crafts for a little Northern Hemisphere charm over the school holidays.

Woman empowered

Think Avon lady at a Tupperware party with Dorothy Black. With sex toys and intimacy accessories as the basis of this business model, Patty Brisben, CEO of Pure Romance Inc., empowers women threefold: sexually, educationally and economically. Patty has enabled thousands of women to earn extra cash on the side or launch careers of their own as consultants for the company. At home-based parties, shoppers are equipped with a fun, safe space in which to ask questions, taking home both a bag of toys and a newly empowered self. www.pureromance.co.za

Table for two?

It's as easy as...

Find.

Book.

Dine.

MEDITERRANEAN OR MEXICAN? Search for a restaurant, read reviews and book a table at www.tablemagic.co.za, currently listing eateries in Cape Town and Jo'burg. Better still, booking through Tablemagic earns points towards free wine and meals. Cheers!
